Student: _____

Minor Advisor: _____

Major Field/Dept.: _____

Major Advisor: _____

The purpose of the Ph.D. minor field is to give breadth to the Ph.D. major. This is important to bear in mind in selecting a minor field. The Ph.D. minor should expose the student to subjects and methodologies that provide a strong counterpoint to her or his disciplinary studies, thus imparting the desired breadth to the overall course of study. Consult the Graduate Catalog for specific requirements.

Before you begin course work for the Ph.D. minor, consult with your major departmental advisor and the graduate advisor about your plans and selection of a minor advisor. Once you have approval to pursue a Ph.D. minor in the CLS Program with a minor advisor, consult with the minor advisor to gain approval of the course of study.
